

Alexi Elia Ortiz

March 15, 2001 - August 3, 2020

"State Runna" Alexi Elia Ortiz was brought into the world on March 15, 2001 by Monica Marquez and Edward Ortiz. Adored by his fiance Sol Habibi, his brotha and sistas: Maria, Cecili, Amy, Amber and William. Loved by stepmom Waya and by many cousins, aunts/uncles, and friends. Lexi was a man of many skills. Self taught entrepreneur. It all started with Taylor Made. Everyone at Taylor Made welcomed him with open arms as family. They inspired him to become the next young millionaire. Along with working in the horse industry, Lex was a barber. That boys fade was clean. He took care of his family in Lil Mexico.

You came on this earth to serve, love, motivate, encourage, and simply bring joy to people. You touched everyone's hearts in ways no one can understand. No matter what demons that came YOU overcame. You did not let anyone get in your way. Your final days you served everyone with Agapé love.

Agapé love is the highest form of love; it embraces a universal, selfless, unconditional love that transcends worldly ties and serves regardless of the circumstances.

You came at peace with God and your time to transcend happened earlier than expected.

Fly high State Runna.

“ In loving memory of Alexi Elia Ortiz,

He always had a great aura of energy surrounding him. Always a great little brother to Maria and Cecili, and an even better son to Edward and Monica. He will be watching over the family still. I'm grateful I got to spend my childhood growing up around him.

With deepest sympathies to the Ortiz family and those close to Alexi. We were all very lucky to have him in our lives, as he will be missed by many.

“ I remember one day we was at Daniel house making a fire to chill and idk why but me and lexi had put to big mattresses on and damn the fire got so big it reached to the tree. We went to get the water hose but it didnt reach so we filled up buckets with water and started running towards the fire 😭 man we wasnt making no progress. Me and lexi was like we fucked up 😭. This one time we was heading back to ocala from Gainesville. And when I tell you this man knew how to drive he can drive he was going through them cars like it was nothing. That\'s one thing he loved doing was driving his car. This dude would always have so much enegery man idk how but he did. One time we was celebrating new years at his house and I had a manuel Honda civic. He always wanted to learn how to drive Manuel and that day in new years I left my keys in my car and he found them 🗝️📦♂️ and well he took of in the car. He crashed it down the road from his house he was okay I was so mad but it was new years we was all lit. I remember we went back to the scene and I seen my car I was just like wtf mad. He said dont tell the police it was me. I took that charge for him. He would always tell me ima give you money for crashing your car he did not much but i respected the fact he tried and help me out. He would always tell me when I\'m a millionaire ima buy a new car. I would tell him no you dont needa do that I just want you to be here when I\'m at my lowest and he would shake my hand and tell me he got me. Alexi Ortiz was a guy that always got what he wanted. He would always dream of one day all the homeboys having there own car and we all cruising together in the hood cruising together everywhere and one day we all got to make that happen. 💙

“ I will always remember Lexi's beautiful smile! I was blessed to have numerous conversations about his love for his work and his goals in life. He adored all of his family and that was so evident in our conversations . It's so beautiful to meet someone so young and to see that they treasure the things that really matter in life. May God comfort his family with all the beautiful memories of who he was.

“ My baby boy Lexi. You are my everything. You are my rock. You seen me at my worst and my moments of weakness. You never judged me and always loved me unconditionally. The 3 years you spent with me in San Diego were everything to me. You and I grew together in so many ways. That's when I truly seen God work and move in your life. Witnessing you being baptized was the greatest day of our lives. We knew that your calling was going to change lives. Papa that's what you did. You came on this earth to serve, love, motivate, encourage, and simply bring joy to people. Everyone you have encountered in life papa you changed them. You touched their hearts in ways no one can understand. No matter what demons that came YOU overcame. You did not let anyone get in your way. YOU DID THAT! Papa... Luna and Koa love you and they will never forget their Tio Foo. I love you so much. Forever papa forever. We won't disappoint you.
