“ My father was a wonderful man, he brought his way to the states from Equador to begin a new life in America. A detetermined man who set his goals and after succeeding in NYC-brought his family down to live a new life here in America. He was a very well known music compossor and carried his talents throughout his life, extreme talent. He was a kind and understanding person...hard-headed but noble. He loved animals-they brought him joy and laughter. My dad was always ready for a joke, he was a very humorous man. I miss him deeply. I love you papi. Lorena L. Rodriguez
