“ Talking with Brad in my office about his belief in God gave me so much satisfaction on my own beliefs.
Brad was so much more than a person I worked with, he was funny and inspirational. I can see why so many people were inspired by him. He never seemed to judge anyone but always worked to help others.
I only wish there were more people like Brad Lipphardt.

I am so glad that you have so much family and friends to be with you. There are no words ease your pain. Please know I would do anything to assist. You let me know and I will be anywhere you need me. You and I will be able to spend time together to do some therapy sewing. I have may comforting treatments to help ease your stress and help you just relax and recharge. I am having surgery on the 18th but should only be 1 to 3 night stay (bariatric surgery. Praying for you and all of your family. You can always run away and hide here to relax for a bit. When we catch up I want to buy a rose bush for your yard, Then every time you walk out and its in full bloom its a reminder that he is close and watching over you. I will try to get to the life celebration. I fl don'e make it - its because I couldnt find a ride./ You rake care of you. Just call me and no one will mess up your day/ May Brad rest in peace and be near you always. MUCH LOVE - LLOYDANN

“ On a professional level, I've known Brad since his first days at Skyline. He was always dedicated and always gave his total effort to get it right. His high intelligence and professionalism made him stand out and took him to the position of Quality Control Manager. No one could rival his knowledge of Code. On a personal level, Brad and I joked and cajoled each other and shared some serious politics as well as our love of cars. Rest well my friend. God bless.
