Tribute Wall

“ I hope you always know how much you meant to so many around you. My heart is shattered even though I know this is better than the pain you endured through this journey. I will never forget you and how much you meant to me both as a mom and a friend. My life will be forever changed by the emptiness left in my heart. I love you mom forever and hope you are a beautiful angel looking over my shoulder and I look for you come to me in the beautiful butterflies. Til we meet again.....
