“ Coy was one of my best friends in the OHS Class of 1966. Neither of us had a date to the Senior Prom and went together to Daytona to get away from it all. He improved my prayer life as I rode with him in his Corvair and on the back of his Triumph Motorcycle. We encountered my Dad driving on Silver Springs Blvd when Coy & I passed him on the right grass shoulder on Coy's cycle. I thought I would be in trouble when I got home. Dad just said, "He can really ride that thing can't he?" Brother, I did not know you had passed until I saw the list of deceased from the class of '66 compiled for the 50th Reunion. More than a few tears were shed. Love you, Buddy!

“ Coy was a good man. He lives on in legend as everyone that knew him had some great stories about him. He made and lost several fortunes and was a very smart guy. We miss you Coy.
