“ To the kindest sweetest mother no words can ever say how I truly feel . You was my rock and showed me true pure unconditional love always .You taught me what it was to be a good person and about god . I am thankful for you and your kind heart that molded me into the person I am today .I hope tomorrow and every day in the future I can show the example of true love and christianity that you taught me and try to remember that kindness Is the best way to go . I would give anything to just see and talk to you see your smile one more day but I know you no longer suffer this world .You are one of gods special angels .I will remember the memory we made together the love you shared with my father was never doubted and how you met him was like fate having met and known his family before ever running into him at a bar lol .You had some good times lots of good memorys with familys and friends you love you remembered alot including the bible you got a great mind like grandpa . I could not be any prouder to be your daughter you and your memorys will live on through me .I will try to remember everything you have taught me If I forget I know you wouldnt hold it against me anyways .As I grow and possibly have kids .I hope that when I tell them about you I will do you justice .I hope you saw it or heard when your sisters and brothers nephews and nieces came to tell you off to heaven .It was a day of love and you would of been beaming with joy .I will not say goodbye I will just say I love you and ill see you In heaven Watch over me let me know when im doing wrong please I still need your guidance I love you ,daddy loves you ,richard loves you,we all love and miss you xoxoxoxo sent to my special angel in the sky!!

“ I knew Edna for a few years only on facebook. She was a sweet lady and we shared many of the same interest especially genealogy and our search for those who came before. I will miss our friendship
