“ Jack was a good friend and a wonderful man. He was always the first to offer his help and support in the times of need. He will be missed deeply. But it is a comfort to know he is now with his Lord and Savior!

“ When one who knows Jack Rozier thinks of him a feeling of tenderness comes to mind right off. If you ever watched him years ago with his kids or in recent times with his grandkids or great grandkids you saw a man who loved just being with them and when you observed him with the love of his life of over 50 years, Debbie, you saw what love truly means. As for being my brother in law I didn't ever see it that way as I knew he was a brother. I also knew he would protect Debbie and his family so I never worried about that. When our family members leave us we hear that there's a tremendous hole in the lives of those who remain well I'm here to tell you our world isn't better off with his passing but we were better off for having known him for all the years that we were lucky enough to have him. He is now where he believed he would be, only now realizing what awaited him was just so much more than he ever imagined. Rest in peace preacher Jack, we all love you endlessly
