

John Kaastra

November 4, 1958 - January 25, 2026

John Kaastra, age 67, a devoted father, proud grandfather, and honorable United States Army veteran, passed away surrounded by the love he spent his life giving to others.

He is survived by his five children, who were the center of his world, and by his grandchildren, whom he loved more than anything. John lived for his family and did everything in his power to provide for them—often sacrificing his own comfort and needs so they would never go without.

John proudly served in the U.S. Army, a commitment that reflected the values he carried throughout his life: strength, discipline, and loyalty. Following his service, he worked for over 50 years in hard, manual labor jobs. He was never afraid of long hours or tough work, and his tireless work ethic was something his family deeply admired and will forever carry with them.

Outside of work, John was an avid sports fan who loved watching and talking about the games. But no matter how much he enjoyed sports, nothing ever mattered more to him than time with his children and grandchildren.

John Kaastra will be remembered for his selflessness, his unwavering dedication to his family, and the deep love he showed through both words and actions. His legacy lives on in the lives he shaped, the values he passed down, and the countless sacrifices he made out of love.

He will be deeply missed and forever remembered.
