“ I was friends with Josh and he was a good person also still very much young, he had his whole life ahead of him and I'm sorry to know that he is no longer with us although this world is cruel and wicked. He is in a better place I suppose up above in heaven. I wish he could've stayed a lot longer with all of us especially his family but as they say "only the good die young." My prayers go out to all his family and friends. No one deserves to die. We all love & miss you! :)

“ I'm deeply sorry for the family and friends in the loss of Johs Salvato, I shall comment what others probably won't say, Josh had Died while exercising his US Constitutional Rights of Freedom of Speech on a Public Road or Right of way,. Yes Screaming , Hollering , and shouting is exercising what should be your rightfully given US constitutional Rights in the USA , He was after all not in someone's home, Place of Business or in someone's Private establishment, He was on what is apparently a Public Street / Road or Public Right of way when this happened and when down,. He died in the course of Exercising his Constitutional Rights of Freedoms of Movement and Speech, and To be Free of interferences from a Governmental type entity when doing so,. Amricans Unfortunately in Modern times have been Brian washed into thinking like wise, by allowing modern timed attorneys and state and local governments to create laws that will state he wasn't exercising his Constitutional rights,. My deepest symphony is with the family and freinds of Josh,.

“ If tears could build a stairway and memories a lane, I'd walk right up to heavean and bring you home again. Do not stand at my grave and weep I am not there, I do not sleep. I am a thousand winds that blow: I am the diamond glints of snow I am the sunlight on ripened grain; I am the getle autumn's rain. When you awaken in the morning's hush, I am the swift uplifting rush. of quiet birds in circled flight. I am the soft stars that shine at night. Do not stand at my grave and cry. I am not there. I did not die.
