“ Dear Ogden Family, please accept my deepest condolences in your loss. Nothing is as painful as losing a loved one in death. That is why I wanted to share a couple of encouraging Scriptures with you; 1 Corinthians 15:26 says; "the last enemy death will be brought to nothing". Also Revelation 21:4 tells us that pain, sorrow and death will be no more. We know that there is no death in heaven, so this scripture is referring to conditions here on earth. Death and sorrow were never part of God's original purpose. We also have the resurrection hope as stated in John 5:28-29 and Acts 24:15. And the man Job believed this too at Job 14:14-15. You will find great comfort in the Bible's message. Wishing you peace and comfort.

“ As I think about Juanita and our friendship lots of memories come to mind. I met her and Bob when I was 14 in Apopka in our quiet neighborhood. I decided I would pick some  I like from their yard, so Bob says what are you picking my flowers for? So that's how our friendship began, 35 years ago. The last year we reminisced all our fun times together, like the time we went to Taco Bell and they gave me a senior drink too. Man that was funny every time we talked about it. The times we walked, rode bikes, ate together or I crying on her shoulder about guys, jobs, other relationships or whatever she was always there for me. Bob, Juanita and I laughed for hours when we did barking spiders. Last but not least the last 9 months with me living in Georgia she always told me just make the most of it and Read your Bible because it has all the answers you will ever need and I love you Mel. I will miss my best friend always, but she walked her talk. She loved the Lord and she was and will be a 2nd Mom to me always. Rest In Peace my dear friend. Love, prayers and hugs to you all, Melanie Sue King

“ So many of us are not lucky enough like I was to have a best friend like Juanita. I first met her when I was 14 years old picking flowers out of her and Bob's yard at Lake McCoy in Apopka. Bob says what are you doing picking my flowers? So began our 35 year friendship. I spent many hours talking to her either on the phone or spending time at their house. When her and Bob moved to Ocala, I was sad and heartbroken. Now to tell you she was always there to listen to my cries, my pain, about my numerous jobs or the guys I liked or was with. She always made time for me. The last couple of years we reminisced about our outings at Taco Bell when they gave me a senior drink too or the time her, Bob and I did barking spiders. Ha ha, we always laughed every time we said that. She always remembered my birthday and Christmas or just a card that said Bob and I love you Mel. 1 of the last times we spoke she said if you want to read a good book or get some right advice read your Bible. I bet when she got to heaven she loved it, she walked her talk with the Bible. I will never forget Juanita (2nd Mom) as she was truly always my best friend, I loved her and will miss her always. ❤️💕, hugs, prayers to all of you, Bob and family. I LOVE YOU ALL!!!
