“ Uncle Madho was one of the most underestimated persons I have ever known. I always saw his manner of dress and comportment as a reflection of his personality - straightforward and unmistakably to the point. Whereas most of us might feel slighted by not being recognised for our accomplishments, uncle Madho in his inimitable style leveraged this to the maximum. By the time you came to terms with the measure of the man, he had already left you in the dust. His impact both tangible and intangible will endure for many many years to come. He will be missed.
