The family wishes to extend their gratitude to James Wear and David Desantis.

Matthew was an amazing husband and father. He strived to put his family first and provide the best for them. He touched so many people's lives on such personal levels with such relatability. People gravitated to him with ease, he made people feel like they were best friends and they may have met five minutes ago. He was such an intelligent person, relatable, easy to talk to, and just a genuine person. He is so loved and will be missed terribly.

“ You've been my cool older brother since I was 12 years old. I already miss the daily phone calls about life and texts about your golf swing, or whatever crazy stock or crypto we decided to day trade. Until next time brother.
