“ Mom, we are stunned at your sudden and unexpected home-going to heaven. To us, it wasn't time yet. Although we know you are at peace being with those you love deeply who have gone before us, the sadness and void we carry here in your absence cannot be cured. We had much more to do together, trips to take, laughter to share, and fun to be had. I was not ready for you to go and will miss you beyond words for the remainder of this life. I love you, and please let everyone there know of our continued dedicated love for them. We will meet again someday. Love always, Kerry
