“ Mommy, I will never forget the strength you withheld for as long as I can remember. You were mentally, emotionally and physically strong. It takes great strength to be a mother of five children especially at a young age but you did it! You always told us you were “fine” and “everything was going to be okay” and that “it’s in Jesus’ hands”. That was your motto even through the pain of battling cancer. You never wanted us to worry and you truly believed you would be saved even as you took your last breath. I adore you for that! You are part of the reason I am emotionally and mentally strong. I will miss those texts and replies on Snapchat from my stories. She made sure to reply to EVERYTHING on Snapchat and comment on every post on Facebook. Man, I’m going to miss that! You were my personal cheerleader. I’m also going to miss your slow moments where you go to talk and it sounds like gibberish and we laugh hysterically for 5 minutes straight. Marvin knows what I’m talking about haha. I’m also going to miss that contagious laugh of yours. I know you will live within me forever and I know I will see you again. Give Myja a big hug and kiss for me. I love you both my beautiful angels.

“ One of my earliest memories with you is you rocking me in your arms. I don't even know how old I was, probably a toddler, but I can see that memory so clearly in my mind. Another is when I was in pre-school. The teachers had my hands and you were grabbing my feet and I was screaming and crying. I did not want to leave you. Also, during our Steeplechase years, I remember watching many movies with you including Shrek, which was Myia's favorite haha. I also remember running into bed with you when I was scared. We had our tough times as I got older, but God restored us like He does and I got to create an abundance of memories with you that I will forever cherish. Mommy, I am going to miss you. I am comforted knowing you are in Jesus' arms and frolicking around with Myia. I bet you are both making Jesus laugh. Mommy, I see you in my dreams, but am looking forward to seeing you again in heaven.

“ Tara Johnson, aka, my beautiful wife was everything a man could ask God for. She was loyal, loving, and very devoted to serving God. When we first met, I fell in love with her, I knew I wanted to spend the rest of my life with her. The only problem was , I was her personal trainer, but when she fired me I knew that was my chance to win her heart. From day one of us dating, working out together, and going to church, our foundation was like a dream of perfection. My greatest memories of you is the only thing that keeps me going. The time we spent just doing nothing like watching In the heat of the night and knight rider. My beautiful wife I miss you so much, I can't wait to see you again.
