“ Hi Dad, One of these days I'm going to figure out how to work this gadget so I don't end up sending everything twice! It's Veteran's Day and we thought of you an extra lot today. Just talked to Helen and Howie, they went and put flags out at your marker yesterday. It snowed here today. Savannah is now driving with her permit, can you believe it? I know you guys must be pretty proud of her, she's really working hard in school and growing up beautifully in every way. Love you and miss you so much , Pop Pop. Give Grandmom and Grandpop a hug around the neck for me.

“ Dad, Sass is back in school. Nana always calls to wish her a good first day. I am taking her to get her driving permit soon, can you believe it? Seems like yesterday you were holding her on your lap, her with a pacifier in her mouth, showing her how to "drive a boat!"

“ Dear Dad, Happy Father's Day.... I would give everything I own to have you back again. You wouldn't believe how much I miss you, not just for my sake, but for Savannah's. We are so alone that it scares me. Love you Dad
