“ To all you kids, Your father is finally where he really wants to be and that is with your mother, his wife again for all eternity. I know this is a very difficult time for you all but you have some wonderful memories of him. I am honored to have known both of them and am truly blessed by it all. Thank you all for sharing your parents with me. God has this and both of them in his hands. He was welcomed back home where he belongs. May God bless you all and give you each comfort at this time. You are in my thoughts and prayers. Be joyful for him at this time also. He is the lucky one.
